Entrance was made through a window on the Union street side of the store. A pane of glass was removed, the catch released and the window raised. Exit was made by the same route as the egress. Chief Brown is positive that the job was pulled on by boys, as there is nothing to indicate the work of adults who would not be satisfied with a revolver and such a small sum of money. It is probable that the boys three tin the lake is shallow and the shining cartridges into the lake in Wilcox park during Sunday night. The water in the lake is shallow and the shining cartridges were discovered by Superintendent Coon, Monday morning. With the aid of a hoe he recovered most of them, but a few were beyond his reach. The cartridges were not in the lake Sunday. Upon learning of the burglary, Superintendent Coon made a thorough, but unsuccessful search for the revolver in the lake, being of the impression that the boys might have disposed of the weapon as they did of the cartridges, in the hope of avoiding detection.

Representative Joseph T. Murphy of Westerly states that the following new item in a New London newspaper is news to him: "A special funeral car from Westerly bearing the body of Cock train and was taken to Putnam of the next Norwich and Worcester train." True, Mr. Murphy was on that train, but in the capacity of undertaker accompanying the body of Rev. Patrick J. O'Leary from Westerly to Putnam. The funeral car left Westerly at 12.15 Saturday noon.

Lewis Stanton, superintendent of health, was convinced several menths ago that the keeping of pigs in populous sections was prejudicial to public health, and the owner of every offending piggery was notified to dispose of his stock, or remove same outside of the prescribed limits, or face prosecution. Most of the offenders compiled with the original order, but a few ignored it, nor did they take heed of subsequent warnings.

East Providence troops will commend one week's encampment

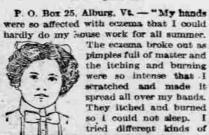

With the new time card that went into effect Sunday there are several changes of importance to Jewett City people. The first southbound trolley leaves at 6.22. On the Providence and Willimantic division two trains have been discontinued that were a great accommodation; the trains dropped are the 2 p. m. train from Plain-field for Providence and the 8 p. m. train from Providence (except Satur-days) for Plainfield, where it connected with the boat train for points south. The last train now, westbound, leaves Providence at 4.49 p. m. This change will cut out the shore dinner trips to Rocky Point this summer from this place, unless an early return is plan-
